

Brahma Kumaris in St. Petersburg, Russia honored by the Order "Heart of Danko" in nomination "Spiritual renaissance of Russia"

On 31 May 2011 Didi Santosh, Director of St.Petersburg Center of Brahma Kumaris became a chevalier of the Order "Heart of Danko" in nomination "Spiritual renaissance of Russia". Award was presented by Mrs. Adelina Mnatsakanova, Advisor to the Chairman of Committee on Social Policy, honorary president of "Heart of Danko" award committee.

This award was established by the Council of social organizations of St.Petersburg and Moscow together with the International Center for Spiritual Unity. It is the Order of public recognition and is given to the outstanding representatives of different spheres of life, among which there are best majors, governors, ministers, cultural workers of the world.

All present at the ceremony expressed their hearty approval of such an honorable and deserved award.

