

Brahma Kumaris Kathmandu-Nepal Zone organises Sustainable Yogic Farming Training and various other related programmes, for which a group of four headed by BK Raju Bhai, Headquarters coordinator of Rural Development Wing, Mt. Abu, RE&RF is on a 10 day visit to Nepal on Sept 21, 2013. They will go across a number of places spanning 12 administrative districts in Nepal with various programmes before leaving for Delhi on 1st Oct.

On their 1st day of visit on 21st Sept, BK Raju Bhai gave a class to Kumars who came from nearby places of Kathmandu-Nepal's main centre at Thamel numbering about 125.

On 22nd Sept, the 2nd day of the visit of BK Raju Bhai, Hon'ble Vice President of Nepal installed-fix a shawl used by Sakaar Brahma Baba in Kathmandu Nepal Centre's History Hall and welcomed BK Raju Bhai and his group for coming to Nepal with programmes on Yogic Farming. Hon'ble Vice President Mr. Jha opined that yogic organic farming would boost quality and quantity in agricultural production bringing in economic gains to the nation and even marginal farmers.

In the afternoon on 22nd Sept, in a presentation & talk programme on "Quality & Quantity Enhancement through Yogic Agriculture" held at NARI Hall (National Agriculture Research Institute), Lalitpur, Nepal, BK Raju Bhai presenting the details of yogic agriculture project gave a talk inspiring to practice yogic meditative farming and follow spiritual life.

On 23rd Sept, a full day long training workshop was organised by BK Kathmandu/Bhaktapur with collaboration/support from Rural Development Wing team lead by BK Raju Bhai at NEA Hall at Bhaktapur with presentations on Sustainable Yogic Farming. Initiating the programme by lighting a traditional lamp, Minister of physical Infrastructure & Urban Development Mr. Chhabiraj Pant in his inaugural speech said he is gladdened to know meditative sustainable organic farming yielding healthy, nutrient, quality agricultural production in greater quantity at lesser expense. He was much appreciative of Brahamakumaris effort in this regard. In the programme chaired by BK Rajdidi, Headquarter Coordinator BK Raju Bhai informed trainees and invitees that Yogic farming reduces disease & cost while giving greater yield, preserving soil from deteriorating. Trainers BK Mahendra Thakur, Dr. Kiran Raval and BK Sumanth Kumar talked at length in their presentations with practical examples.
